Exam Cell Inaugurated at GIT

Prof H G Shekharappa inaugurating the examination cell of GIT in Belagavi recently.

Express News Service

Belagavi: The newly-established examination cell of KLS Gogte Institute of Technology (GIT) was inaugurated by Prof H G Shekharappa, acting V-C of Visvesvaraya Technological University, recently.

This is one of the most automated examination cells using the latest state-of-art technology.

A new software is used to manage every task of the examination system and it is done with a great professional touch.

Shekharappa visited and evaluated all functions of the exam cell and provided suggestions to take the efficiency to higher levels. He opined that the GIT's excellent track record, accountability, credibility in the academic domain have been crucial in acquiring autonomous status.

He expressed confidence on the potential of the GIT to conduct the exam in a flawless way and conveyed his wishes for a successful journey ahead.

U N Kalkundrikar, chairman of GC-GIT, said the GIT strives to carry on its rich legacy and credibility that it has earned over the last three decades.

He said the GIT is all set to scale new heights owing to its excellent pedigree and relentless contributions by staff members. M R Kulkarni, chairman, Karnataka Law Society, appreciated KLS GIT for doing the good work and opined that the institute should work hard to reach its goals.

A S Deshpande, Principal, GIT, welcomed the gathering. Prof Nupur compered the programme and Controller of Examinations P Arunkumar proposed the vote of thanks.
